

So Swift Is War

A few seconds after this picture was made, the silent home in the background erupted flame as 121 snipers opened fire, and two of the allied soldiers in the foreground fell before the hail of bullets. The photographer who took the picture and the rest of the men shown took cover until supporting fire shot out the enemy. This is war in France.

th Army Captures Cannes With Five-Mile March Today

anknees Drive For Allied Junction in North France

Rome, Aug. 25—(AP)—U. S. troops of the southern invasion army seized the French Riviera sort of Cannes and thrust on to Italy within less than 20 miles of the Italian frontier.

(Berlin radio declared German troops began withdrawing from southwestern France several days ago, and the German communiqué declared the retreat extended over most of southern France.)

(French headquarters said Patton's troops had entered Lyon, 170 miles north of Marseille.)

On the western beachhead flank, the allies opened great assaults to push German pockets still holding out in Marseille.

The Americans who took Cannes also seized the nearby inland town of Grasse.

Column Strikes West—Another U. S. column, smashing westward from Salon, northeast of Marseille, was reported to have crossed the Rhone river, in the drive on that vital natural highway for a junction with allied units in northern France.

Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's headquarters said nothing of advances by American troops striking north of Grenoble.

Geneva dispatches said the troops had reached the Swiss frontier, about 40 air miles north of Grenoble.

Draw Steel Ring Tighter—In Toulon French troops drew a ring of steel tighter around the desperate Germans entrenched in the naval port and the nearby coastal area.

The French troops occupied the land arsenal within the city as well as the suburban town of Ollioules to the north-east. The enemy's steepest resistance was around the naval arsenal in the harbor and on the rocky peninsula which almost encircled the harbor to the south and southeast.

Some 20,000 prisoners already have passed through the pens established on the beachheads, and hundreds more continued to march back from the rapidly extending front while hard-fighting American and French troops wiped out small enemy units as they were encountered.

Silence Expected—Capture of Cannes in a five-day advance at the eastern end of the beachhead was the first of a series of movements toward the alpine frontier reported in recent days. It came after bombardment of enemy coastal batteries that vicinity by allied warships.

As isolated enemy units were tempting to flee toward Germany through the dwindling gap between Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's and Patch's armies, advanced allied forces were expected to maintain radio silence concerning their precise whereabouts.

RETREAT INDICATED

London, Aug. 25—(AP)—The German communiqué indicated today that a widespread retreat on most of southern France was in progress up the Rhone valley toward Lyon.

Declaring embittered fighting as still going on on Toulon and Marseille, the high command said the defense of coastal points was made possible detaching elements of all other formations toward Lyon.

In the mountain territory of the Rhone our detachments are fighting the flanks are engaged in fighting with fast enemy units which are to prevent our movements in the Rhone valley.

THE WAR TODAY

Hitler's shattered forces cannot long delay complete reclamation of Paris, but their sudden fierce resurgence, after ostensible withdrawal from the capital, provides us with fresh evidence that he's still fighting in the cornered Nazis.

It's fair warning against the rather prevalent super-optimism which already has written the war off as finished. Now of course we have every right to be optimistic, because from whatever point you view Herr Hitler's position it's apparent that he's a beaten man and that, as General Sir Bernard Montgomery says, "The end of the war (European) is in sight."

However, it strikes me we should be content with the demonstrable fact that the German dictator is on his way out and not indulge in the wishful thought that the end is just around the corner. Super-optimism could produce heavy disappointments and also could damage our home-front war effort.

It's true that Hitler's situation is so critical that anything can happen at any time. On that basis he might indeed collapse today, but the cold truth is that he's not likely to.

Barring unforeseen developments, we have a lot of hard work ahead of us. Even if the Hitlerites should start to retreat toward their frontiers immediately, both in France and in the Russian theater, many weeks likely would elapse before they were brought to bay, unless their retreat was an utter rout without any attempt at rear-guard defense.

In sizing up the situation we mustn't overlook this: There's every indication that so far as Hitler himself is concerned he intends to fight to the bloody end.

The length of time Hitler can hang out depends on two things: (1) How long the German public and fighting men stick with him.

Excitement

Rochelle, Ill., Aug. 25—(AP)—A slight shift of gears meant more than a slight change of direction to Frank Meade, Rochelle carpenter.

Meade intended to back his car out of a parking lot, mixed his gear shifts and put it into low instead of reverse.

The car lurched forward and in a swift tour of one downtown intersection hit a guy wire on the northwest corner, a lamp post on the southwest corner, another post on the southeast, then broke off a fire hydrant on the northwest corner.

The car ran out of gas as it was bearing down on the city band stand.

Arrangements to Administer Civil Affairs in Liberated France Signed

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—Arrangements to administer liberated France until the French people choose a permanent form of government went into effect today, the state department announced.

These arrangements were set in motion through an exchange of letters between General Eisenhower, as commanding general of United States forces, and General Koenig, commander of the French Forces of the Interior.

They deal with administration of civil affairs and related matters, including a provision that there will be no censorship of political news in liberated France.

Tokyo Reports New Allied Landing in Mapias on Thursday

Islands are Nearer Philippines; Not Confirmed As Yet

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor
Allied troops have attempted a new island invasion nearer the Philippines, Tokyo radio said today without confirmation.

The same enemy source broadcast that 23 carrier planes raided western Sumatra at the other end of the Dutch East Indies, similarly without allied confirmation.

These indications of a quickening tempo in the southern Pacific coincided with two London announcements promising harder blows against Japan from Southeast Asia.

Adm. Lord Louis Mountbatten has returned to east Asia from Britain with new plans for stepping up the war in that relatively quiescent sector; Adm. Sir Bruce Fraser arrived in Ceylon to take command of the British Far Eastern fleet in succession to Adm. Sir James Somerville. Fraser is known as a doughty sea commander outstandingly successful against the Germans.

Other Activities
Allied troops landed on the Malia (St. David) islands yesterday, Tokyo said, but the invaders were driven off in a few hours with heavy losses. There was no

Bombers Raid Ten German Objectives

London, Aug. 25—(AP)—More than 1,100 American heavy bombers escorted by strong forces of fighters and fighter bombers smashed today at ten north German objectives including the Peenemunde experimental station north of Berlin where flying and rocket bombs are developed.

Targets included four aircraft factories, three air force stations, a research center, a synthetic oil plant and the robot bomb station.

Simultaneously, nine waves of Marauder and Havoc bombers attacked the fortifications of the besieged Brittany port of Brest for almost a solid hour. About 200 planes participated, Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters said. Elements of three German divisions have been locked in the Brest forts for several weeks.

Peenemunde lies on the Baltic, 110 miles from Berlin, and has been a frequent allied target. Recent advice have said the Germans were developing their "V-2" weapon there, variously described as a 60 to 80-ton rocket carrying about a ten-ton explosive warhead.

Paris' Liberation Now 'Fact'

Von Kluge Retreats Hurriedly to Reach Somme, Marne Line

Abandons Seine Pocket, to Swing War to Former Battleground

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Aug. 25—(AP)—Field Marshal Gen. Guenther Von Kluge was reported swinging his beaten German armies back to the line of the Somme and the Marne today in a headlong retreat which would abandon much of the channel coast and the vicinity of Paris.

The battle in the pocket below the Seine, swiftly whittled to an area of only 20 miles long and 15 miles deep, appeared likely to be ended in another 24 hours, as Americans, British, Canadians and allied troops pressed in from all sides. The Canadians, advancing along the coast, captured Honfleur five miles across the Seine bay from Le Havre.

The Germans said they were engaged in a "detaching movement" below the Seine but the speed of the eastern retreat indicated Von Kluge's armor was in mad rush across the Seine toward the Somme and the Marne.

Dispatches said sideroads in the Seine-pocket were lined for miles with the litter of wrecked German tanks and military vehicles, enemy

Tentative

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—Chairman Woodrum (D-Va.) of the house post-war military policy committee said today that the Army "tentatively" looks to Oct. 1, 1944, as the date for the end of the war against Germany.

Woodrum interposed the statement at a hearing at which Rear Admiral James H. Irish, inventory control officer for the Navy, indicated the Navy expects to be still fighting in the Pacific through 1945.

Woodrum did not amplify nor explain the source of his information.

dead piled in the ditches and under trees or draped over burned and smoldering equipment.

Even if an attempted stand is made on the Somme-Marne line, an RAF officer said, it was doubtful if the enemy has enough armor to make the stand he did in Normandy, and he spoke of the possibility the Germans would retire to the German border.

Dispatches from elsewhere on the front said great lines of allied armor and infantry were swinging down toward the Seine, determined to keep the enemy on the run.

The march is on, one dispatch said, with allied officers optimistically looking forward to the Rhine.

The swing of Von Kluge's line to the Somme and Marne would bring the battle to the hard-fought fields of the first World War, the scene of the German breakthrough to the Channel at Abbeville in 1910 and the short-lived battle for France the same year when Generalissimo Maximilien Vaygand vainly sought to save Paris by a stand along the Somme.

It would not surrender the rocket coast around Pas-de-Calais, but front line dispatches said an end might be put to the buzzbomb terror for England soon.

There was a blackout of news on operations of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's Third Army southeast of Paris. No official report had been made on the progress of this spearhead nearest Germany since yesterday's announcement of an advance of 15 miles east of Sens.

Singing Russians Follow Red Tanks Through Rumania

Moscow, Aug. 25—(AP)—Two Red armies, slashing deeper into Rumania against an apparently tottering enemy from whom 47,000 men have been taken as prisoners in five days, today were within 25 miles of the Galati gap defenses guarding the Danube gateway to Bucharest and the Ploesti oil fields.

The armies of Gen. Rodio Y. Malinovsky and Gen. Feodor Tolbukhin, obviously taking no chances on the outcome of Rumania's peace bid through King Mihai, swept up more than 550 cities, towns and villages yesterday, including the Bessarabian capital of Chisinau (Kishinev).

In a lightning attempt to get a firm grasp on Rumania before her Nazi overlords can complete plans for counter measures, the armies took 25,000 German and Rumanian prisoners in a single day, and sent spearheads to less than 100 miles from Ploesti and slightly more than that from Bucharest.

Judge Dixon Warns of Outcome of War's "Puppy Love" Affairs

Judge George C. Dixon, presiding in Lee county Circuit court today referred to "puppy love" marriage and the result of these unions, to be expected at the close of the war. The reference came when Kenneth McCracken, 21, of Ansoy, appeared with his counsel, Attorney Albert Hanneken, and sought to have the court order a reduction in the alimony to be paid to his divorced wife, Verna Gardner, 15. At the time the court granted the divorce decree in September, 1932, on statutory grounds, McCracken was ordered to pay $10 monthly alimony.

Crop failures were attributed by McCracken as his principal reason for seeking the reduction of alimony. Miss Gardner was represented by Attorney H. C. Warner at the hearing and testified that she planned to enroll in the Rochelle high school early next month. The couple were married at Kahoka, Mo., June 20, 1932. In ruling upon the petition for reduction of the amount of the alimony, Judge Dixon said:

"This is another of those cases which are to be expected when this war is over—a puppy love affair—and we may just as well prepare to meet them," after which he denied the petition.

Enormous Tomato Crop Is Remaining Unsold

St. Louis, Aug. 25—(AP)—Hundreds of bushels of tomatoes were unsold along produce row today, with prices averaging 5 per cent of those paid for early homegrown varieties in June.

Norman Friedmeyer, produce company head, attributed declining prices to "an enormous crop," the result of ideal growing weather, lack of demand from other parts of the country and a shortage of trucking facilities.

Canners have absorbed all the tomatoes they can handle at prices from 40 to 65 cents a bushel, he said, and he estimated 2,000 of the 6,000 bushels on the market today would be unsold.

Report Bucharest, Rumanian Capital, Bombed by Germans

Cairo Radio Tells of War Declaration by Rumania Today

BULLETIN
New York, Aug. 25—(AP)—The Cairo radio said today that Rumania had declared war on Germany and that German planes "heavily bombed" Bucharest. The FCC recorded the broadcast, which was without confirmation elsewhere.

The British radio said "clashes between Rumanian troops and Hungarian civilians in Transylvania" had been reported. It gave no further information or authority.

London, Aug. 25—(AP)—Germany announced officially today that "some" Rumanian troops had stopped fighting and Moscow dispatches told of widespread local engagements between Nazi rear guards and King Mihai's army, thrown to the allied side by the Balkan kingdom's abrupt capitulation and reversal.

While Russian armies drove swiftly through the oil and wheat empire to within 35 miles of the strategic Galati Gap between the Carpathians and the Danube delta, the Soviet union informed Rumania it could earn an armistice only by ordering her troops to fight "hand in hand with the Red army," a move ordered in King Mihai's dramatic proclamation Wednesday night.

Repercussions were swift. Outflanked Bulgaria intensified its search for peace and London speculated that a capitulation from the Bulgars would come shortly. Hungary's boundaries were bared to the advancing Russians and, according to Bucharest broadcasts, to the Rumanians too. The liberation of adjoining Yugoslavia and nearby Greece were brought infinitely closer. Even Finland, far to the north, was reported in new peace overtures.

The German communiqué told of the staggering military and political blow which was Rumania.

Fair Treatment of Citizens Is Sought

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—Legislation designed to insure "fair treatment" of citizens in dealing with government agencies and to "provide adequate review by the courts of agency action" was prepared for introduction in the house today.

Chairman Smith (D-Va.), of the house committee investigating executive agencies, said the measure was prepared by his committee "to improve the administration of justice by prescribing fair administrative procedure" among executive agencies. He added:

"Administrative agencies are steadily becoming more numerous and more powerful. There is no indication that this trend will not continue. Because of the ever increasing importance, not only to business interests, but also to every individual, of the activities of the agencies, it is the concern of everyone—and the duty of congress—to pass legislation which will insure fair treatment before such agencies and also provide adequate review by the courts of agency action."

The bill sets up a standard system of practices, codifying procedures so that an attorney would have little difficulty in transferring that practice to other agencies," Smith's committee said.

World Security Conferees Recess to Let Secretarial Staff Catch Up

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—Limitations expected to be imposed on the projected world security organization now being outlined at Dumbarton Oaks probably will eliminate a plan advocated by some well-placed American officials to hand over peace conference problems to that agency, it was understood today.

British representatives are reported to have brought a strong conviction from the London group of the "liquidation of the war" must be separated from the organization of the peace.

The Russians have taken the line that all work not connected directly with the settlement of international disputes and the preservation of peace should be handled by international groups other than the security agency, although they almost certainly would have to be coordinated with it.

The conferees came to the end of their first work-week today with their secretarial staff so loaded with paper work that a large group of the delegates decided to go to New York for the weekend.

Four full days of conferring produced enough progress that Secretary of State Hull called in a bi-partisan group of senate foreign relations committeemen for a report today. Also in the late morning he arranged to hold his third session in three days with John Foster Dulles, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's foreign policy advisor.

Nelson's Status on Return from China Appears Uncertain

Washington, Aug. 25—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today Donald M. Nelson, still chairman of the War Production Board, but added that he could not say now whether that official would be in the same job when he returns from a special assignment to China.

Roosevelt told a news conference Nelson was going on a very important mission and that he believed questions about what is going to happen in the future were of little importance.

The exchange started at today's news conference when a reporter asked the chief executive whether Nelson would resume control of the War Production Board upon his return from China.

In WPB quarters, there had been reports that Nelson would gather into his own hands upon his return all authority vacated by the stormy resignation yesterday of Executive Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson.

Navy Man Appointed
At Roosevelt's request, a smooth-faced, 37-year-old naval lieutenant commander, J. A. Krug, will be acting chairman during Nelson's economic mission to Chungking.

The appointment of Krug, formerly TVA power manager, and more recently a ranking vice chairman of WPB, climaxed a rapid-fire succession of events

Gen. Eisenhower's Headquarters Give Out Announcement

BULLETIN
New York, Aug. 26—(AP)—The German commander of Paris has surrendered to Brig. Gen. Jacques LeClerc and the commander of the French Forces of the Interior, Paris radio reported today in a broadcast recorded by Columbia Broadcasting System.

London, Aug. 25—(AP)—Paris appeared to be in allied hands tonight with the French Second Armored division operating in the city. Fighting, however, still was going on in and around the French capital.

Gen. Eisenhower's supreme command declared that Brig. Gen. Jacques LeClerc's armor was operating in the capital and a broadcast from a reporter with American forces in France spoke of the liberation of Paris as "a fact."

As fighting continued, the French Forces of the Interior appeared by radio for Parisians to come to the barricades.

Broadcasts from the city of light said the joyous citizenry already was celebrating their freedom. Other radio dispatches said American troops had entered the city in support of the French.

Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander of the French Forces of the Interior, announced at 6:02 p. m. that LeClerc's tanks were operating in the very heart of Paris and that the Patriots were holding all the main official buildings and most of the highways.

Koenig said the Germans had barricaded themselves for a stand-off fight in several places. He declared that first French armored patrols reached FFI headquarters in the Hotel de Ville (City Hall) just off the Rue de Rivoli at 10 p. m. last night, and that the bulk of the French armored division entered Paris this morning.

Heavy Fighting Rages
Both FFI and German broadcasts said heavy fighting was raging inside the city and that an American tank column had driven into the Paris outskirts from Versailles in the west and along the Paris-Elamps road leading south. The Germans said the heaviest clashes with tanks and Patriots were near the Arc de Triomphe and the Palais Luxembourg.

Brig. Gen. LeClerc entered the Orleans gate at 9:43 a. m. broadcasts from Paris said.

The bulk of the French general's Second Armored divisions—30,000 strong—was massed in the Pont de Sevres sector in southwest Paris and already had begun to march in, said one allied transmitter broadcasting from Paris.

Old War Cry Sounded
Gen. Charles DeGaulle was said to be at Bagneux, a southwestern suburb six miles from the center of Paris, waiting to be conducted into the capital where the carillons of Notre Dame and church bells throughout the city already heralded the entry of one spearhead.

The old revolutionary war cry of Parisians, "To the Barricades," was sounded in appeals to the populace to rally to the final fight for liberation, which was said to center at the Ecole Militaire, the Palais du Luxembourg and the district of Clichy in north Paris.

But fighting was said to be dying down in the old tapestry manufactory, the Bogelins, and the French were mostly in control of the suburbs—the Red Belt.

The FFI was ordered to hold its positions "at any price" until relief arrived in strength.

"A great part of the capital has been liberated," a Col. Rolle, identified as an FFI commander, broadcast. American forces stationed at Bourg le Reine and Bagneux started moving into the city at 8:15 a. m.

Through Chateillon Gate
Other tanks and vehicles of LeClerc's command entered by the Chateillon gate at 7:15 a. m. and traveled the Boulevard Brune.

The arrival of a detachment in the center of the city was reported by an American correspondent in a broadcast.

The correspondent, whose broadcast was heard here by Reuters News Agency, said he was speaking from the Hotel de Ville—the Paris city hall. His words came over the radio of the French Forces of the Interior in Paris.

"From the Hotel de Ville from where I am speaking to you I

Wall St. News

New York, Aug. 25 — (AP)—Sellers had a shade the best of a wishy-washy argument in today's stock market and many leaders did nothing much or slipped to slightly lower levels in one of the sloved sessions of the past three months. Confronted with another lengthy weekend, the growing belief that the end of the European conflict was in sight and the possible threat to reconversion plans involved in the latest war production board wrangle, investors generally trimmed their accounts or stood aside to await more definite inspiration from domestic and foreign developments. Resistance was exhibited by Engineers Public Service and Braniff Airways, at a new 1914 points; DuPont, Twentieth Century, Fox, Philip Morris and Goodyear. Steels, motors and rails were exceptionally narrow. Backward were Sears, Roebuck, N. Y. Central, Douglas Aircraft, American Can, Standard Oil (N. J.) Kenne-cott, American Smelting and Westinghouse. Bonds stepped in spots. Cotton, toward the finish, was ahead 60 to 75 cents a bale.

300,000 Democratic Missourians Absent

Jefferson City, Mo., Aug. 25 — (AP)—Missouri Democrats are worried about the 300,000 Democratic votes which turned up missing in the Aug. 1 primary election.

Republicans are jubilant about their apparent gain in voting strength—and call the primary vote a sign of Republican victory in November.

Four years ago the Democrats polled 656,000 primary votes, the Republicans 298,000, a Democratic margin of 358,000 or more than two to one.

This year the Democrats cast 336,569 votes and the Republicans 309,204 in the governorship primary, a difference of only 27,365, the nearest the Republicans have come since 1928 to matching the Democratic primary vote total.

In 1928 the GOP swept the state. Some argue that the Republicans had more and a livelier primary contest—both state and local—this year than usual to help bring out their full voting strength, these Democrats say, while the Democratic primary produced fewer good contests than usual.

Even after that explanation, however, many Democrats still shake their heads sadly and worriedly over what happened to those 300,000 Democrats.

Anthracite Walkout Is Broken by UMW

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 25 — (AP)—Anthracite strikers trooped back to work in the government-seized Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Company mines today, breaking the back of a walkout that had lasted nearly eight weeks.

The company said "between 85 and 90 per cent" were on the job. Rank-and-file miners said they believed the holdouts would return Monday.

United Mine Workers locals voted last night to end the strike. The government seized the colereries Wednesday. UMW President John L. Lewis ordered resumption of work two weeks ago, but the order was not heeded.

The strikers alleged that the company had paid as little as $3.33 a day in violation of the anthracite wage contract. The company denied any contract breach.

Legion Asks Effective Military Training

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25 — (AP)—Compulsory military training and gradual demobilization of this country's citizen army at the war's end are recommended in resolutions awaiting consideration of the Illinois American Legion which opened its 26th annual meeting today.

Legionnaires are expected to continue insistence on powerful land, sea and air forces. Some 60 resolutions on these and other subjects are being prepared for delegate action Monday, closing day of the war curtailed conference.

Omar J. McMackin of Salem is listed for election Monday as senior vice commander, normally the stepping stone to department command. Arthur E. Canty of Chicago, present Illinois senior vice commander, is to succeed Leonard W. Esper of Springfield as state commander.

Col. Raymond J. Kelly of the Army Service Force and U. S. Senator Scott W. Lucas will address Legionnaires tomorrow.

Earl Sennett to Direct—Dixon's Municipal band will give another in a series of summer concerts this evening from 8:30 o'clock at John Dixon park. Maestro Orville Westgor will be absent this evening, Earl Sennett directing.

Ration Stamps Stolen—The Rev. F. R. Bacon of Nachusa has reported to the police the loss of several gasoline ration stamps from his car which was parked on Galena avenue opposite the post office Wednesday evening. The ration stamps were in the glove compartment of the car which was parked about 15 minutes during which time it was ransacked.

Motorist Hits Cyclist—John Bland reported at the police station last evening at 6:15, having struck a bicycle rider on East Everett street. Bland, the report stated, was driving east when the bicyclist rode directly in front of the car. The bicycle was struck and the rider slid some distance but sustained only minor bruises and his name was not learned. The bicyclist was only slightly damaged.

Some Business Changes—Several changes among business houses on Galena avenue between First and Second streets are planned within a short time. Two business locations in the Odd Fellow building are to be reoccupied. The Crystal barber shop, which has closed, is to be occupied by Mrs. Edna N. Nattress and Mrs. Helen M. Schickley will occupy the store space which is to be vacated by the Nattress shop.

Start Improvement Monday—The McCarthy Construction Co. of Davenport will start the resurfacing of Third street from Galena to Douglas avenues Monday morning it was reported today. All of the man holes have been raised to the new grade and the switch tracks crossing Third street are now being raised in preparation of the improvement which will provide a black top surface the entire distance. The mixing plant is now in readiness on the Medina cement properly cast of the city.

Danville Medical Aid Sticks to His Post

Dr. Humphrey, Altape, Aug. 11 — (AP)—Prof. Ralph H. Smith, Danville, Ill., a battalion hospital aid man, found himself with his hands full the other day beyond the lines on the Drinimur when an advance troop was cut off by the Japanese and isolated for 96 hours. He had 18 wounded on his hands, no means of evacuating them. And he was the only medical corpsman with the unit. For three days the unit was without food or water. Smith had two alternatives—try to reach the American lines and bring adequate medical help back through or stay with them and do his best. He chose the latter.

Four days later when the Japs were driven back and the unit rescued, Smith was still galloping from one case to another ministering to wounds—changing dressings, cleansing, administering plasma and sedatives. He was ready for the hospital himself when the outfit struggled back to food, water and the safety of their own lines.

State's Plans Giving Servicemen and Women 58 Days to Cast Votes

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25 — (AP)—State plans to mail unofficial ballots to local election officials will assure Illinois servicemen and women 58 instead of the previously expected 45 days in which to obtain and return their Nov. 7 ballots. Secretary of State Richard Yates Rowe said today.

"Unofficial ballots that probably will require little if any changes will go out next week to county clerks and election commissions," Rowe said, "who then can take preparatory steps for printing."

The state certifying board will meet Sept. 8, the earliest possible date, to certify official ballots, election officials should be in a position to mail official ballots by Sept. 19 instead of Sept. 23 as originally contemplated.

Rowe said army and navy officials had estimated 45 days were sufficient for distribution and return of ballots to armed service members all over the world.

Willkie, FDR, May Meet for Confab

Washington, Aug. 25 — (AP)—President Roosevelt said today he had been in private contact with Wendell L. Willkie, but that he knew of no plans for an immediate meeting with the 1910 Republican presidential nominee.

A reporter asked the chief executive whether he was going to have a private meeting with Willkie.

Roosevelt said there is none in prospect that he knows of, but quickly added that he may see his former Republican foe. He added that he sees lots of hear the explosion of shells and the spatter of machineguns of the regular army and the machineguns of the FFI," said the reporter, who was not identified immediately.

The broadcast said, LeClerc's first patrols—several Sherman tanks, two infantry sections and a section of engineers—entered the capital just before midnight, passing through the Port D' Italie. "From the Port D' Italie to Ile de la Cite (the island in the Seine in the center of the city) which the underground army originally had seized as a stronghold in its uprising last Saturday) LeClerc's units have had a delicious welcome. Men, women and children literally rushed the tanks, shouting their joy," the reporter said.

"And City in Full Battle—This first allied detachment found Paris in full battle.

"It had to carry out a definite mission: to occupy the Prefecture of Police and the Hotel de Ville, and liquidate several German tanks which were still moving about in the area.

"This mission they accomplished. Last night a burst of bullets swept the hall of the Hotel de Ville. Four persons were killed and since then machine-gunning has hardly ceased.

"The Germans set fire to the navy ministry and the Hotel Crillon and the sky was ablaze in the direction of Neuilly and Vincennes. It was the last jolts of a beast receiving a mortal blow.

"The resistance council held a general meeting. 100 yards from there the FFI rushed a building where the SS were using up their last cartridge.

"The stronghold of La Cite, where all personalities of the resistance movement are, holds out well."

Notre Dame Belts Ring

Another broadcast on the FFI radio said Gen. LeClerc's division started to cross the Pont St. Michel in the center of the city at 8:30 today after marching along the Boulevard St. Jacques.

The Morocco radio said the "bulk of German armor is leaving Paris," and that the news of LeClerc's arrival went around the capital "like wildfire and the bells of Notre Dame rang out."

The Cathedral of Notre Dame is the geographical center of Paris, on an island in the Seine, and the Paris city hall is on the north bank of the river opposite the island.

The American reporter's broadcast followed an official announcement from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters that French forces had burst into the city this morning. The official announcement, however, indicated a penetration only into the outskirts.

The German high command, in its first mention of Paris in one of its communiques, also told of heavy fighting in the suburbs which it said had been reached in strength by allied armored and motorized forces.

Germans Make Fight

A Berlin broadcast added that American forces, as well as the French, had reached the city. Transocean said the Americans breached German lines at two places between Versailles and Longjumeau on the west and south, while the Morocco radio said the Germans were withdrawing.

Both enemy and allied reports indicated the nazis were making a fight for Paris. But there was no sign they were throwing any large number of fresh forces into the city.

A dispatch by Associated Press correspondent Edward D. Ball, dated at 11:15 a. m. yesterday at Rambouillet, 20 miles west of Paris, said resistance forces were reported in control of most of the suburbs, but the Germans were firmly in control of a triangular area in the heart of the city.

There the Germans had tanks, it was stated, and apparently were prepared for a stubborn fight.

Today the French-controlled FFI radio station, believed to be operating in the Hotel de Ville, issued an appeal by Gen. Joseph Pierre Koemg's underground army, to Parisians in their traditional revolutionary battle cry:

"All to the barricades! All to the fight! Parisians forward! Join in the fight in the 'last efforts for liberation'."

Ball said the whole situation inside and about Paris yesterday was one of utter confusion.

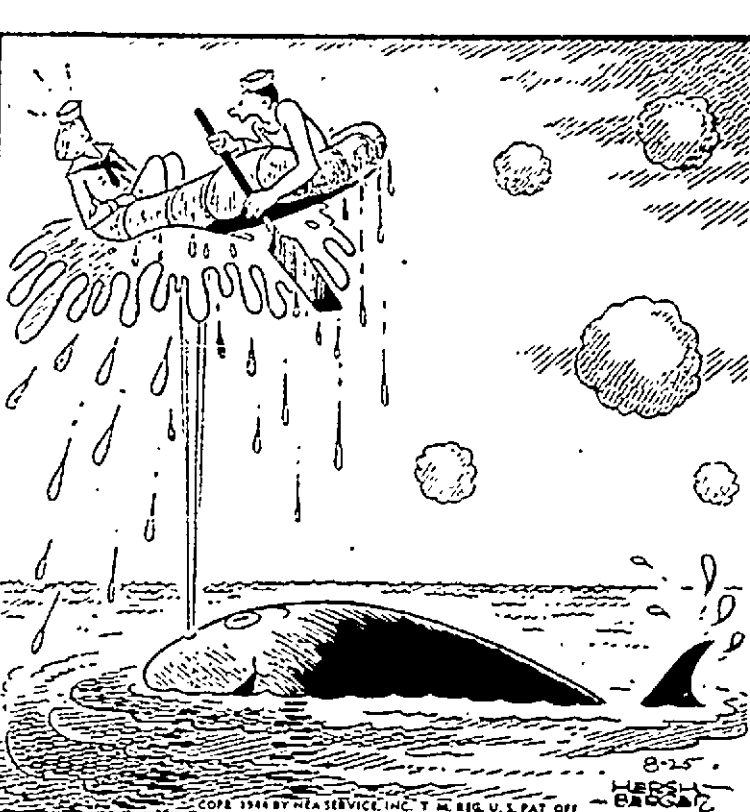

Correspondents who had flocked into Rambouillet, expecting to make a bloodless march into Paris at noon Wednesday, were informed that Paris had not been liberated at all, as had been announced.

"We need not bother about spending tonight (Thursday) in Paris—you won't be there," they were told.

Le Clerc gave a brief interview but a spokesman at his headquarters said no details were given as to any armistice in Paris. He said some sort of agreement apparently had been reached with the Germans, but it apparently fell through.

Resistance forces yesterday, however, were in full control of such important suburban areas as Chatillon, Issy on the southwest and Bois de Boulogne on the northwest. It was clear that the premature uprising in Paris and the subsequent call of the FFI inside the city for help had forced an improvisation in the military plans of Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley of the American Army group, causing him to divert forces to Paris. The brief supreme headquarindication of the scope of the reported action. The Mapias lie about 100 miles due north of Manokwara on northwest New Guinea, about 400 miles south of Palau which guards the eastern Philippines and some 300 miles east of hard-hit Halmahera.

Tokyo vaguely said "western Sumatra" was raided and that two allied planes were downed. This island has suffered two previous fleet raids at Sabang, Sumatra, buttresses the Japanese hold on Singapore naval base.

Gen. Joseph Stilwell meanwhile offered a summary of his North Burma operations this year, reporting that 10,000 square miles of territory were retaken and more than 20,000 Japanese slain. He reckoned the campaign as partial recompense for the "hell of a beating" his forces took in Burma in 1942.

Halmahera, stepping-stone to the Philippines, took its heaviest bombing Wednesday. Gen. MacArthur's airmen unloaded 156 tons to good effect, destroying buildings and setting fires.

Adm. Nimitz announced a Sunday raid on off-hit Paramushiro north of Japan.

in's about-face in these words:

Nazi Communique "In the southeast sector of the eastern front, our troops are disengaging themselves toward the Prut and Siret rivers. After parts of Romanian troops had ceased to fight, many enemy tanks were destroyed."

Moscow reported that Romanians, who previously had deserted, told advancing Russian troops that Germans machinegunned them for retreating and that they, the Romanians, in turn, killed their nazi military masters.

A correspondent for Izvestia said he saw bodies of Romanian troops and a German SS officer at one point where the Romanians rebelled. Soviet Cossacks were hailed frequently by surrendering Romanians who were ordered to continue without guard to Red army bases, Moscow said.

Reds Seek Annihilation "Best estimates of German troops in Romania range up to 40 divisions, many understrength. This force of perhaps 400,000 men represents nazi survivors of their Ukrainian armies, chased from that rich Russian republic in the winter campaign. Practically all are believed massed on the active front. Apparently it was to annihilate these Germans that the twin Russian offensives were aimed."

Romana has perhaps 25 to 30 divisions, many under strength from losses suffered in the ill-fated Russian campaigns which were estimated to have cost Romania up to 1,000,000 casualties. Part of these were in the center of the country and near the border of Transylvania. Hitler awarded Hungary half of Transylvania in the 1940 Vienna dictate.

An AP dispatch from Cairo said the Romanian army of King Mihai was understood to control the important Black Sea port of Constantia.

Russia's offer of co-belligerent status to all Romanians willing to fight the Germans and Hungarians hastened a complete collapse of nazi rule in the Balkans and implied recognition of Rumania's right to Transylvania, the AP's Daniel De Luce cabled from Moscow.

Such assistance "is the only means for speedy cessation of military operations on Rumanian territory and for the signing of an armistice," said a statement issued by the soviet commissariat for foreign affairs.

which in a few hours blew the lid off an old WPB feud and nearly left the agency leaderless for weeks to come.

The fireworks started when the White House announced Wilson's resignation—in protest against alleged attacks on him inspired by members of "the personal staff of Nelson"—just at the moment that Nelson and Wilson were holding a "harmony" meeting of top WPB officials on the eve of Nelson's departure.

"Harmony" Blasted The senate war investigating committee, which had just taken testimony from both men, announced its conviction that "rumors of disagreement" between Nelson and Wilson on reconversion policy were "entirely unfounded and are unfair to both men."

Only a few minutes later Wilson told a press conference the same thing. But added that Nelson, by a "manana policy"—putting it off until tomorrow—had delayed the establishment of Wilson's own cutback and reconversion machinery by 20 weeks.

T "harmony" atmosphere was further blasted by Wilson's assertion that War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes had instructed Nelson in April to proceed with the reconversion recommendations of the Baruch-Hancock report of February, but Wilson didn't learn of Byrnes' letter until less than 30 days ago.

Wilson charged that he and his staff had been "constantly pilloried with the story that we were holding back reconversion, favoring big business and other stories completely untrue." Wilson repeatedly promised to vindicate Wilson publicly and force a halt to the reports, he asserted, but the promises were "never, never carried out."

Nelson, who days ago started machinery to get Krug back into WPB, busied himself with getting the Navy man named acting chairman in Wilson's stead, and did not reply to Wilson's assertions.

ON WAY TO CHINA

Washington, Aug. 26 — (AP)—Donald M. Nelson already has left the capital on the first leg of his economic mission to China, a spokesman for the WPB chairman said today.

Nelson and Maj. Patrick J. Hurley were selected by President Roosevelt for a special mission to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Nelson's departure left the strife-torn WPB under the acting chairmanship of Lt. Comdr. J. A. Krug, hastily named by Roosevelt last night after the sudden resignation of Executive Vice Chairman Charles E. Wilson.

The Germans said the Americans were driving into the elbow of the Seine between Troyes and Romilly.

Almost forgotten, except by military men, was the siege of the great naval base of Brest in Brittany. But it was brought back into the news with disclosure that a nine-wave attack by Ninth Air Force bombers sent 300 planes winging over its fortifications this afternoon.

As an inlet for supplies direct from America and Britain, Brest would be of greater importance to the allies than Paris even. "The enemy is leaving bits and pieces to try and delay us, but there is no major stand all the way back to the Seine," a field headquarters officer said last night after a sharp Canadian advance of 20 miles had driven the Germans into an area about 25 miles long and 15 miles wide.

5th Anniversary Will Be Observed by Jerome F. Cox

Mr. and Mrs. Jerome F. Cox, members of pioneer families of Ogle county, will observe their fifth wedding anniversary on Sunday, Aug. 27, when their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Smith, will entertain in their home at their home here on Lanewood. Open house will be held from 2 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, to which their many friends are invited. Mrs. Smith is their only child.

Mrs. Cox is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Johnson, whose marriage was made in Grand Detour township, where for years, Mr. Johnson was a member of the county board of supervisors from that township.

Dr. Cox is the son of Hiram S. Cox, well known resident of the region community over a long period of years.

They were married by Rev. D. Seyster at the parsonage of the Creek Christian church, Aug. 1889, and the only surviving member to the wedding is Mrs. Seyster, wife of the officiating minister.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Cox are in good health, and both enjoy their farm home and life. Mr. Cox served as circuit clerk of Ogle county for two terms in a highly efficient manner and since then been engaged in farming. Mr. and Mrs. Cox are widely known throughout Ogle and Lee counties, and hundreds of friends join in extending best wishes for continued years of married life.

DINNER GUESTS

Mrs. Edward Dawson entertained a few guests at dinner at Coffee House last evening, including her guests to her home, East Seventh street, later in evening.

Women Can't Win Political Arguments Without Facts

By RUTH MILLETT

When a man gets into a political discussion with a woman he usually quits with two feelings. He basks in the belief that women don't know anything about politics, and that he really set the woman straight.

There are two reasons why women usually come off second best in their political discussions with men.

The first is that women aren't as experienced as men in talking politics, and so don't have as many facts or alleged facts at their finger tips. They get into a political discussion and find themselves defending their stand with vague generalities, while the man they are arguing with trots out a lot of figures and statistics.

The other reason, of course, is that a woman is a little bit afraid that if she stands too staunchly by her political beliefs in the face of a man's dissenting opinion, she may lose her charm for him.

And so when it looks as though he is getting disgusted with her for having a mind of her own, she suddenly goes feminine and says with a smile, "You're probably right" or "I hadn't thought about that angle before."

Facts Back Ideas

And all that adds up to the fact that men have absolutely no respect for the political opinions of women. A man may think his wife is the smartest woman in the world—but if she differs from him politically he is sure she hasn't enough sense to be allowed to vote.

Women can't hope to win any respect for their political ideas until they do two things—learn to back up their opinions with facts and figures and quit saying "I never thought of that" just to make a man feel good.

Circus Comes to Dixon Tomorrow

Early tomorrow with the rumbling of heavy trucks, the neighing of horses and ponies, the screeching of monkeys, the roaring of lions, the trumpeting of Tontel, the elephant, everyone will know that Sells-Sterling circus has arrived at the Seventh street and Van Buren circus lot.

It has always been a spectacular scene to watch the arrival of a circus and how with precision, truck after truck of material and animals are run on the lot, unloaded, and in just a few hours the big top, with its pennants floating in the air, the side show with its colorful banners, all have been erected in the twinkling of an eye, forming a complete little cit yet its own, ready for the sound of the callopie which announces that all is in readiness for another day of good wholesome family fun and entertainment.

The Sells-Sterling circus brings to Dixon an array of diversified entertainment with thrills, chills and laughter. Sells-Sterling presents wild, as well as trained domestic animals, Liberty ponies, jugglers, acrobats, girls in beautiful aerial ballets, and last, but not least, as with all circuses, clowns to keep the audience in an uproar, even through the presentation of the more serious thrill acts.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S EYESIGHT Should Be Watched!

School opens week after next and parents who haven't already done so, should pay immediate attention to their children's eyesight.

Children who have a tendency to frown or squint should have a thorough scientific eye examination before their eyes become overtaxed and strained by reading or study.

If taken in time, defects of vision in school children can often be overcome—that if let run on until mature age would result in permanent impairment of vision.

A Thought for Today

As the mountains are round about Jerusalem, so the Lord is round about his people from — Psalms 125:2.

Glorious indeed is the world of God around us, but more glorious the world of God within us.—Longfellow.

GOP Governors' Conference

The twenty-six Republican governors who met in St. Louis, Mo., on August 2 and 3, under the leadership of Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Governor John W. Bricker of Ohio, gave the nation a sample of the kind of cooperation that will characterize the national administration after next January 20.

While the Democrats were busy telling people that the Republican ticket is "immature and inexperienced," Dewey and Bricker were proving that they are just the opposite—by their actions. If anything either immature or inexperienced happened at the conference, it escaped the wary eyes of experienced Washington reporters who were on hand to record any fumbling of the ball.

As a matter of fact, one trained Washington reporter was heard to observe, "If this is inexperience and immaturity, we need some of it on the Potomac."

A study of the 11 points in the "statement of policy" adopted by the Republican governors shows that, contrary to what New Dealers say, the Republicans have an experienced eye and a practiced hand in national government affairs as these are related to state problems.

First on the list, as could be expected, was the problem of full employment. The Republicans came out firmly for solving this problem through "private business under an enterprise system," and considering the record of the governors who were present, few persons will doubt that this will be the route followed by the new administration.

"To allow continuance of the present listlessness, negligence and lack of leadership in Washington is to invite national disaster at the conclusion of either of our two major conflicts," the governors declared. "The national administration is now standing squarely in the path of the future employment of our returning veterans and millions of displaced war workers."

Few informed Americans, who know of the bungling of the bureaucrats and the failure of the administration to offer adequate transition-to-peace legislation, will question this statement. Certainly, the governors who must detail their work with the work of the national government must know whereof they speak.

With their open statement on private business as a starter, the Republican governors went on to outline intelligent and far-seeing statements of policy about vel-erans' legislation, highways, the National Guard, agriculture, unemployment insurance, insurance, labor, public expenditures, social welfare, education and public health and water resources.

Aside from the actual findings of the governors, there was much to praise about the conference. For one thing, it was an example of Governor Dewey's determination to consult with the other leaders, after the is elected president, instead of going on the prevailing theory that all knowledge, intelligence, ability, as well as power, rest in Washington.

Further, the conference gave emphasis and added publicity to the fact that today, despite the great power of Federal patronage, the citizens of the twenty-six most populous states in the nation have chosen Republican leaders. There are 90,000,000 Americans living under Republican state administrations and these Americans produce more than three-fourths of all war materials. It would require a very patristic mind to think that there would be any "danger" in placing Republicans in control of the national government.

All in all, there is good reason to believe that Governor Dewey pulled a master political stroke when he called the conference.

MAX F. RIGGS
(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, Aug. 25.—The funeral of Max Fossick Riggs, 47, who died Wednesday noon at the home of his mother, Mrs. Arristine Riggs after suffering a heart attack at 9:30 that morning while painting at the farm home of Robert Johnson east of here, was held at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon at the Lutheran church. The Rev. Martin Kabele officiated and burial was in Fairmount cemetery.

Mr. Riggs was born Feb. 27, 1897, in Eagle township, west of Polo, the son of John and Arristine Riggs. He married Emma Gill of Lanark on Oct. 1, 1927, and the couple resided in Lanark until the death of Mrs. Riggs May 1, 1940.

Mr. Riggs had resided since the home of his mother in Polo.

Surviving, besides his mother, are a daughter, Carol Ann; two brothers, Grant Riggs of Polo and Frank Riggs of Rockford, and a sister, Mrs. Benford Henkel of Stockton. He was preceded in death by a brother, Russell.

AUGUST DUTSMAN

Forreston, Aug. 25.—The funeral of August Dutsman, 79, lifelong resident of Forreston, who passed away at 1:15 o'clock Thursday morning at his home, one and a half miles south of Forreston, the result of a heart ailment, will be held at 1:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home and at 2:00 o'clock at the Forreston Grove Presbyterian church. The Rev. S. G. Mann, pastor, will officiate, and burial will be in the church cemetery.

Mr. Dutsman was born Dec. 20, 1861, on a farm three miles southwest of Forreston, the son of Jacob and Margaret Cordes Dutsman. He was a carpenter by trade.

Surviving Mr. Dutsman, who was unmarried, are two brothers, Joseph Dutsman, residing one and a half miles from Forreston, and William Dutsman, a Forreston hardware merchant. He was preceded in death by a brother, John, who died many years ago, and a sister, Charlotte, who died in March, 1912.

strengthening our naval power. Political factions in America, England, and France attacked the Darlan agreement, but the general's only remark to friends is said to have been, "I am not a politician. My job is to help win this war. I shall do whatever in my judgment will help to end the war as victoriously in the quickest possible time."

ON Christmas Eve a revolver shot decided the Darlan issue. Admiral Darlan, 61 years old, was shot to death at his headquarters in the city of Algiers. A 20-year-old lad, member of a French patriotic organization, was the assassin. Two days later the ardent young crusader was tried by court martial and sent to his death before a firing squad.

General Ike was sitting at the officers' front-line mess, dining with members of his staff, when the message of Darlan's death was delivered to him. His aide and friend, Lieut.-Comdr. Harry G. Butcher of the Navy, was at his side. Leaving their Christmas Eve dinners on the table, they stepped into their car and started for Algiers.

All night long they drove at high speed over the roads through the darkness, the general taking turns at the wheel with Butcher.

Christmas morning dawned over the desert. About noon Ike and Butcher stopped by the roadside, and standing beside their parked car ate British field rations for their Christmas dinner. It was Christmas night when they arrived in the ancient capital of Algiers. Here the details which could not be transmitted over the telephone were related.

The night was spent locked in consultations. After a few hours' sleep, General Eisenhower went to Darlan's home and offered his condolences to the admiral's widow. He then attended the military funeral at the cathedral and returned to consultations. On the following day it was announced that the successor of Darlan would be General Giraud. This appointment, too, was confirmed over political protests for "military reasons."

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON

(Distributed by King Features Syndicate. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

Washington—More important people than C. E. Wilson, the vice chairman, have been after the War Production Board Chairman Donald Nelson to get him to China or even farther—all the way back to Sears Roebuck, whence he came.

President's strong right arm (though somewhat limp and sore now himself) James F. Byrnes long has been allied against him. Also Harry Hopkins' man, General Breton B. Somervell, long has hoped and planned for the worst for Nelson.

The latest inside cause for renewed anger was a report on Army production made by two of Nelson's assistants seeming to show Somervell all wrong in his figures on Army shortages.

This report Nelson is supposed to have sent to the Chief of Staff, General George C. Marshall with an invitation to look it over. It claims Somervell was able to arrive at his shortages only by transferring title of equipment and supplies from his own department to Army Transportation, or the Bureau of Ordnance or some other Army subdivision.

More mention of such a report sends official tempers flying and the subofficial whisper, "it has been suppressed."

At first Nelson understood he would be in China for only two or three weeks at the most.

But since then, he has read in the papers he is to be there 60 to 90 days—the so-called crucial period as far as developments within WPB concerning the Nelson method of piecemeal return to peacetime production (30 per cent increase he says) or the Wilson Somervell idea of waiting for mass reconversion.

Senators and congressmen also read the papers and they not only criticized the China mission, they threatened to investigate it. To them Nelson is small business as far as the government is concerned, and they want him here. It was their apprehensions which caused Roosevelt to issue his denials.

But when the president said the Nelson mission to China is "most pressing," the congressmen remembered Vice President Wallace was the last to undertake a pressing mission in that direction, only to lose his job, even with Roosevelt's support.

The president also said there would be no change in WPB policy (he mentioned nothing about chairmen), but the earlier White House announcement had specifically designated Nelson's enemy on this issue, Wilson, to be acting chairman, in which seat he would have had many opportunities to act with and without Roosevelt's notice.

Therefore, Roosevelt has not been able to dispel entirely the common supposition among the business elements within WPB that the Army got rid of Nelson for the coming 60 to 90 days at least, and possibly for longer.

Civilians tend to sympathize with the Nelson case, but there is an untold side to the Army stand also. For instance, it can now be related General Eisenhower, two or three weeks ago, suddenly ordered 80,000 trucks to be shipped immediately. Apparently he decided to move his army forward into Germany on trucks entirely, disregarding railroad repair.

Now 80,000 is a sensational number of trucks (and the Army has been claiming a shortage in this line), but they were found stored around the country, and the major war operation of getting them to the seaboard and aboard ships has proceeded satisfactorily.

The Army and Navy feel they must produce twice as much as they think they will need, in order to have enough. In battle you cannot afford to be caught short.

Atop this, Pacific coast senators say 8,000 war workers have been leaving California each month since the end of the European war became evident. They are moving back to the midwest farm regions. A news account estimated 4,000 to 5,000 leaving the San Francisco area each month.

Furthermore, strikes are being called for trivial occurrences, just to get a rest. Such excuses as the firing of a foreman, transfer of inspectors, upgrading of a riveter, abandonment of a 15-minute rest period, etc., have been used for strikes lately.

The Army and Navy fear that when the European war ends, the workers will not sustain their interest for Japan. The military will start drumming congress for an industrial draft again, unless they get the production they want.

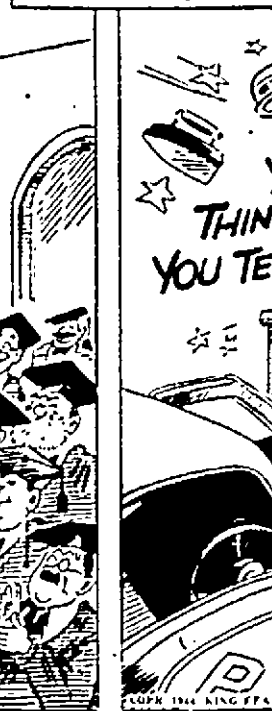

There should be some reasonable common ground for starting much civilian production im-diately as Nelson wants, without interfering with the Army and Navy, to which his adversaries object, but no one seems to have found it.

Thus the struggle waxes, first with Nelson on top pushing the policy of piecemeal reconversion particularly for small business, and now the Somervell men running the works to delay reconversion to a single big peacetime operation, which will surely cause unemployment hardships as well as needless shortages of civilian goods.

French Economic System Crumbling, Needs Rebuilding

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The United Nations face a major repair job in rehabilitating France's economic system, the foundation of which has crumbled under the heel of Nazi occupation.

Deterioration was steady under German control after France surrendered in June, 1940. The Nazis looted everything in sight. Allied bombings also helped to cripple her war industries after Hitler's soldiers moved in.

Raw material scarcities grew progressively worse. A lack of coal, motor fuels, foodstuffs, transportation and communications helped stymie recovery. New German rules on production and distribution helped but little. Authorities tried to strengthen and extend supply regulations—establishing rationing of food, wearing apparel and other commodities. They also instituted wage and price controls. But United States department of commerce records and various foreign reports give this picture of France's unhappy economic state:

Recovery Ended
Industrial recovery began hesitantly shortly after France's surrender but a lack of materials soon ended that trend. "Production fell off and big concerns complained they were unable to operate because of officially fixed prices."

Coal production dropped to less than half of normal needs of 6,000,000 tons a month, partly because of fewer miners and also because imports dwindled to almost nothing compared with pre-war years.

A serious oil shortage cut motor car and truck circulation to a minimum. Reserves were reported at an end early in 1942. Lubricants decreased, curtailing railway service—especially passenger travel.

Agriculture was handicapped by dwindling supplies of fertilizers, draft animals, machinery fuels and adverse crop weather. Many farmers and farm workers remained prisoners of war.

Wholesale prices in about three years from August, 1939, increased (estimated): bread cereals, 35 per cent, meat 30-60, milk 60, butter 155, eggs 160. Industrial—coal 15, cement 41, pig iron and magnesium 40, copper and lead 50, rubber 300, raw textiles 100 and gas 150.

Springfield Star Is Made Ineligible For Play by IHSA

Participation in All-Star Ball Game is Given as Cause

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP) Albany (Alby) Plain, 17-year-old Springfield high school basketball and baseball star, was declared ineligible for senior year competition in a ruling today by the board of directors of the Illinois High School Association.

Plain was blacklisted for playing in an All-Star baseball game last July 14 in violation of IHSA rules against prep participation in such competition, the board announced.

The decision, the first involving the rule which has stirred a statewide controversy among prep sport fans, is final and cannot be appealed, said Albert Willis, Chicago, executive secretary of the association.

In Springfield, however, J. R. Fitzpatrick, lumber dealer and publisher of a weekly newspaper which sponsored Plain's all-star participation, announced he would file in Cook county court next week "a suit seeking an order to have the decision set aside."

Plain made no comment but his father, H. U. Plain, Springfield grocer, said the youth would continue in prep sports, possibly at a prep school not affiliated with the IHSA. Principal Lyman K. Davis of Springfield high school said Plain may enroll at Lake Forest Academy, which is not an IHSA member.

Holds Rule Violated

The board held Plain's participation in a game at Comiskey Park, Chicago, violated an association rule prohibiting "a student enrolled in any member school" from playing with "any so-called 'all-star' team under penalty of one year ineligibility."

Davis contended before the board late yesterday that Plain was not enrolled during the summer vacation period and therefore was not subject to the rule, but the board later voted this interpretation.

"This rule shall be interpreted as prohibiting high school players from playing on All-Star basketball or football teams regardless of how such teams may be chosen or what section of the country they may presume to represent."

"It shall, however, not be interpreted as prohibiting a high school player from playing on a so-called 'All-Star' baseball team during the summer months, provided such team is composed of players all of whom reside in the same local area."

To Clarify Rule

"The term 'enrolled' as it applies to this section of the rules shall be interpreted to mean that if a student once attends a high school he continues to be enrolled in that school until his graduation or transfer to another high school."

Willis said the exception made on summer all-star baseball teams chosen from local area stars applies to municipal league or sandlot games. The July 14 game involved All-Stars from Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin.

He said the board instructed him to prepare an amendment to be submitted by the board to the associations' 950 school members meeting here Oct. 11 "that would clarify the present wording of the All-Star rule."

Fitzpatrick told a reporter the decision "shows not the wording of the rules counts but rather the board's interpretations. The language in the rules was clear enough."

He gave no details of the proposed court action.

SPORTS ROUND-UPS

BY HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Bill Brandt, an expert on September hurricanes, has figured out four National League records that the Cardinals can break if they win the pennant in a game instead of just a breeze. Billy Southworth's boys are shooting for the 116-victory record set by the 1906 Cubs, the 27½-game margin that the Pirates of 1902 held over the second-place Dodgers and they'd like to clinch the lead on the earliest date of any 154-game season, beating the Sept. 16 record of the 1931 Cards. If the Redbirds do all that, they'll likely bust the last-month high mark of .885, set by the Cubs when they won 21 games in a row and 23 of 26 to capture the title. But those are nothing compared to the one record the Browns are shooting at—their first American League pennant.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Los Angeles papers are blasting George (Weltwas) Marshall because the Redskins are getting a fat guarantee out of tonight's charity game with the March Field grid forces. An Iowa State football handout says: "Of this year's squad of 26, 10 are college third are civilians." That's okay as long as they're civilians rough enough.

EAR HEAR

SERVICE DEPT.
Some sort of a travel record should fall when Sgt. John Derr, sports editor of the C. B. I. Foundry, is summoned from New Delhi to St. Louis to see the world series and then returns just in time to cross the hump to China for a football game—Bob Hoenschmeyer, Indiana's 1913 grid star, is in the naval preparatory school at Bainbridge, Md., but here's no telling if or where he'll play this fall. Although Kessler Field, Miss., lost six former college and pro footballers in one month, including Pvt. Bobby Cifers from Tennessee.

George Huffman, the coach, admitted he still had a squad that "will bring credit to Kessler and give soldiers a brand of sports entertainment they really want." That should be enough word for wise opponents.

Trout, Newhouser, Dare Sewell's Men In Detroit Tussles

Two 20-Game Winners Determined to Knock Browns From Race

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
Detroit's two-man pitching staff prepared to make its bold challenge for an American League pennant today as the St. Louis Browns dropped into the Motor City for a four-game set showing signs of wear and tear after a rough eastern trip.

If the Browns are going to "blow," the crystal ball gazers have selected this series as the time for it although Luke Sewell's leaders warped the Tigers 11 times in 14 early-season meetings.

Detroit fans remembered how the Tigers drove on to a flag the last time the Yankees faltered in 1910 and figured it was time for the worm to turn in their relations with St. Louis if they were going to keep up their rep of winning when New York loses.

Partially balancing the Browns' series edge was the fact that the teams met seven times in April and hadn't seen one another since June 25. Since the Tigers were strengthened by the return of Dick Wawick who is hitting .303 to lead the club.

Hal Newhouser with a 20-8 win record and Dizzy Trout with 20-9 have accounted for almost two-thirds of the Detroit victories and Trout did not begin to get hot until the season neared the half-way mark. Newhouser topped the Browns twice and lost two but Trout took only one of four. None of the others were able to beat St. Louis.

On the Browne side, Sig Jakucki held three decisions over the Tigers to one loss, Jack Kramer had 2-1, Nelson Potter 1-1, Tex Shirley, Steve Sundra and Al Hollingsworth each 1-0 and Bob Muncie 2-0. It was the hurling department however, that had Sewell worried on the eastern trip. Since August 1 only four of his pitchers had gone the route Muncie had been belted out three times running and Jakucki had finished only once in a month.

While the Browns and Tigers feud, second place Boston will be playing the rejuvenated Philadelphia A's and the Yankees, still in the race in third place 5½ games back, will be in Washington where St. Louis was floored three out of four.

St. Louis still was sitting pretty with a 4½ game lead and could dispose of Detroit's challenge by an even split. New York and Boston needed clean sweeps to do any extensive gaining.

Chicago's Cubs gave St. Louis a close scrap but succumbed for the 13th straight last night in the only major league game played. A Philadelphia at Boston day game was rained out and no other clubs were scheduled.

Teddy Wilks, beaten only by the Giants, stretched his win streak to 10 and notched his 13th triumph by beating the Cubs, 2-1. He allowed only three hits in topping Claude Passeau.

Colonels, Toledo Stage Hot Scrap for "AA" Second

By The Associated Press
Milwaukee's leading Brewers say good-bye to Louisville tonight and probably they're not sorry their season's business with the Colonels will be finished.

The American Association's top team took its ninth beating of the year from the Colonels last night, as against 12 wins. The Brewers, playing at that clip against the Association teams, would be far off their current lofty position—a 7½ game lead.

The Colonels, fighting Toledo for second place, dumped the leaders, 4 to 1, combining Charley Gasaway and Floyd Speer for nine hits. Al Widmar blanked the Brewers for six innings on four hits but he got into trouble in the seventh by loading the bases. Otis Clark was sent in to relieve and he shut out the fire by allowing only one run.

Toledo matched the Colonel's victory march in the fight for the runner-up spot by disposing of St. Paul, 7 to 4, for its third straight win. Lefty Earl Jones tamed the Saints with six hits to gain his ninth triumph while the Hens hammered four enemy pitchers for 13 blows.

Fourth place Columbus defeated Minneapolis, 8 to 7, to even the current series at two games apiece. The Millers drove Ken Burkhardt to cover with a two-run rally in the ninth for a 7-6 lead, but the Birds duplicated their effort to win. Loren Bain, second of the two Minneapolis relief pitchers, was unable to check a Red Bird last inning rally.

Indianapolis shut out Kansas City, 9 to 0, after losing the first game of a double header, 7 to 2. The Blues got 10 hits to the Indians' 12, but 13 Kansas City men were left stranded on bases in the night cap. The Blues sewed up the first game in the fourth inning, scoring six runs, five of them on Indian errors. Dick Hearn the Blues' winning pitcher, allowed only four hits and retired the last 15 batters who faced him.

Dixon's Knacks are primed and ready for battle Sunday. So, for that matter, are Howe's All-Stars, that Rock Falls aggregation which is sweeping all competition from its path. The finest and most hard fought game of the year is expected, as each team has a healthy regard for the other.

While Howe's have remained undefeated, Dixon has been dropping its share of games and now has a nine-four record. However, in recent weeks the Knacks, bolstered by new manpower, have seemed to snap from a discouraging slump and are now coming up with a good brand of ball.

It is also believed that Howe's are just a little weaker when playing on an enemy diamond. This has been demonstrated in the series with Prophetstown when Rock Falls captured the first game (played at Howe's orchard) 7 to 1. Returning to Prophetstown, Howe's were hard pressed to capture a 4 to 3 win. In both games the pitchers were similar, as was the entire lineups. Thus it shows that Howe's can be beat and Sunday may be the day.

Lt. Irv Wolf is dead. But his athletic feats will live on at Sterling high school and also survive the mists of the past at other conference institutions, where his athletic ability and good sportsmanship were admired. This great athlete (below) was not only a good basketball player, a fine quarter miler, and a star performer on the gridiron, he was respected and admired both by his rivals and students. Let his memory live on!

Freeport's Pretzels have announced their football card for the '44 campaign. Seven Big Eight conference battles have been arranged, the Freeporters hoping to carry on their fine record of last season when they captured six wins against only two defeats and a tie.

Seven 1913 varsity men will be on hand to strengthen the squad and a wealth of material is present from last year's Frosh-Soph team. Complete schedule:

- Sept. 15—Dubuque at Freeport.
- Sept. 22—Open.

- Oct. 6—West Aurora at Freeport.
- Oct. 20—East Rockford at Freeport.

Now its the Cubs who are stealing Branch Rickey's thunder. Rickey, his team plummeting to the cellar (where it grovels at this time), began to draw the Flat-hushers' ire when he began signing 16 and 17 year old players and drafting them into the Brooklyn lineup. Among some of Mastermind Rickey's discoveries were Cal McLish, Tom Brown, Eddie Miksis, Ralph Branca, and Clyde King. None has survived the rigors of time and strenuous competition, however.

Anxious to obtain their share of "boy wonders" the Cubs have announced the signing of Robert Rush, 18-year-old hurler who graduated from a South Bend high school this spring. Rush will play baseball in the summer and attend college in the fall and winter.

Rush, whose father, Harry Rush, pitched for the St. Louis Browns back when the Brownies were strictly second rate, reports to Nashville in the spring.

Pilot John Bulla Drops from Sky for Sizzling 65

Chicago, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Johnny Bulla's three-point landing with a sizzling 65 put the pressure on a select field of 126 other sharpshooters at the All-American Open Golf tournament today.

The 30-year-old Bulla, an Eastern Airlines pilot, flew into town from Atlanta and promptly whipped over Tam O'Shanter's fairways yesterday in a record-tying gain to gain a three-stroke advantage over his nearest foe after 18 holes in the open section of the $12,500 three-day show.

As the 122 professionals and seven amateurs opened play in the second quarter of the 72-hole tournament which carries a rich first prize of $13,462, Bulla led favorite Byron Nelson, by three strokes.

Nelson, tourney winner in 1911 and 1942, pulled into the second spot with a 68, dropping a 35-foot putt on the home hole to grab a strategic position behind the high-flying Bulla.

Chemist Takes Lead
While Bulla was knocking down birds on seven holes and staying even with par on the others, Ken Heilmann, a St. Louis chemist, swept into the lead with a 70 for the first 18 holes of the amateur division.

Heilmann posted his two-under par for a one stroke advantage over John Markel, of Reading, Pa., and Ed Furgol of Detroit. Dale Morey, of Indianapolis, the 1913 champion via the match play route, was far back in the field of 26 with a 78.

First day leadership for the field of 27 women who also are deciding their All American title over the 72-hole route, went to Betty Hicks, of Long Beach, Calif. The far western star came in with a 78, two over women's par, to finish a stroke in front of Phyllis Olto, of Atlantic, Iowa. L. Patty Berg, of the Marines, the defending champ, turned in an 81 as did Dot Germain of Philadelphia.

In addition to Bulla, seven other shooters scored 70 or under in the Open.

Harold (Jug) McSpaden, leading money winner among the professionals this year, had a comfortable 71, while Bob Hamilton, of Evansville, Ind., the new P. G. A. champion, had a 73, one over par.

American Derby Run is Almost Exclusive

Chicago, Aug. 25.—(AP)—With the field one of the smallest in its history, the American Derby, which tomorrow will have its 35th running at Washington Park, shaped up today as a six horse race with five colts and one filly appearing as certain starters.

Heading the list in the battle for first money of $62,400 is Alfred Parker's By Jimmy, which came out of the east after winning the Travers during the Saratoga-Belmont meeting, and the Calumet Farm entry of Pensive and Miss Keeneland.

In addition to these three, the Dearborn Stable's Nelson Dunstan, an import from Detroit; Ralph W. McInvin's Old Kentucky and the Brodie Farm's Challenge Me are slated to accept the issue. Jozrahel, a colt which John Marsch recently sold to Emil Schwartzhaup of New York, is a possibility.

If six go in the Derby it will have a gross value of $80,050. Second place will draw $10,000, third will get $5,000 and fourth, $2,500.

The gross value of last year's Derby, captured by Hal Price Hendley's Askmenow, was $74,700. Askmenow's share was $58,150.

Great Lakes Favored to Nab Swim Title

Great Lakes, Ill., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The 1944 National A. A. U. outdoor swimming meet opened at his U. S. Naval Training Center today with nearly a dozen teams competing for the championship crown that went undefended by Yale, last year's winner.

Favored to succeed Yale was the host team—the naval station's Bluejackets who were represented by 17 swimmers, the largest entry. The sailors won the indoor A. A. U. title last April at Ann Arbor, Mich., and despite a complete turnover in personnel were expected to dominate the field.

The Bluejackets' toughest competition may come from the Lake Shore club of Chicago, which has an 11-day entry, second largest, and Northwestern university with a team of nine.

Only two 1943 champions are slated to defend their titles—Gene Rogers of Columbia University in the 400 and 800 meter free style events, and Joe Vendeur of the Philadelphia North Branch Y. M. C. A. in the 200-meter breast stroke.

The boy to watch—the only boy entered—is Jimmy McLane, 13-year-old distance swimmer from Akron, Ohio, who may give the men a swim for their medals. Jimmy, who won the men's National A. A. U. distance title over a four-mile course at Williams Lake, Kingston, N. Y., several weeks ago, is entered in the 400, 800 and 1,500 meter events.

Belts Out Foe, is Disqualified by Ref.

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Clyde English, West Indian lightweight, was knocked down four times and belted out for keeps by Monte Pignatone, New York 134-pounder, last night at Fort Hamilton, but English won the fight.

Pignatone had English down for one eight-count and three times for nine but became over anxious and knocked him cold after the bell rang ending the second round. Referee Young Otto disqualified the New Yorker, much to the amusement of 3,805 paying customers and 1,000 soldiers.

Lt. John Powell in Florida
Miami, Beach, Fla.—First Lt. John D. Powell of Polo returned from service outside the continental United States, now is being processed through the Army Air Force redistribution station No. 2 in Miami Beach, where his next assignment will be determined.

This is one of the redistribution stations within the A. A. F. personnel distribution command. At an A. A. F. Redistribution Station A. A. F. returns from theatres of operation are examined by specially selected medical and classification officers whose joint findings are used in recommending new assignments. Returnees live at a redistribution station under conditions that encourage natural response to processing, the greater part of their two-week stay being devoted to rest and recreation. A. A. F. personnel, enlisted men and officers alike, are assigned to a redistribution station upon their return to the United States, but do not report to the station until completing a furlough or leave of three weeks.

Lieutenant Powell, 26, B-17 pilot, flew 33 missions during five months in the European theater and was awarded the D. F. C. and Air Medal with three oak leaf clusters. He is the son of Mrs. Della Powell and the husband of Doris M. Powell, both of Polo.

Club Sponsors Lecture
The Polo Rotary club is sponsoring four lectures which make up the 1944 Institute of International Understanding. The first lecture will be held here Tuesday night, October 17, and a lecture will be presented on each succeeding Tuesday night until the four have been heard. Time and place will be announced soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray D. Hedrick First Lt. Dick Hedrick in Europe learned through letters from their son, First Lt. Dick Hedrick, that he flew his own plane across the Atlantic ocean, that he landed in Ireland and was later assigned to further training in England. They believe that he is now participating in the battles of France.

In Saipan Battle
Don Smith, graduate of P. C. II with the class of '42, was in the thick of the battle of Saipan, according to a letter received from him a few days ago by his aunt, Miss Alverna Smith. Don is a radioman serving aboard one of the warships that shelled Saipan in preparation for the invasion landings and later as support for the advancing troops.

Amusement Await Public
With one exception the stage is prepared for the opening of Polo's war-time Corn Carnival next Wednesday and Thursday with a big array of fine attractions and street concessions and amusements—enough to keep the thousands of guests having a lot of fun, a welcome relaxation from a season of hard work. The Civic League of the Woman's club are co-sponsors. The one exception is the Figure Parade which last week it was thought possible to bring to Polo.

At press time complications of freight shipments had arisen with the question as to whether it could be depended upon to arrive in time. The committee was getting in telephone contact with Jean Bros. in Pittsburgh, Pa., to see if these details could be ironed out. "If at all possible," the committee said, "we will bring the Figure Parade to Polo. We have wanted it for the public, for it was an unusual show in itself. If we can get the details worked out it will be here. Whatever may happen, we want you all to come anyhow for there will be plenty to do."

Two carnival features that have always attracted much attention are the flower show and the hobby show. The flower show will be held in the town hall and will be open to the public at 2 p. m. The hobby show goes on in the Legion hall. All hobbyists are invited to bring a display no matter how large or small it is or what it is. A department of the hobby show of interest to women will be old quilts, hand-made rugs and a large display of other fancy work. Any who have fancy work are invited to enter and display it.

As usual, the Woman's club will have "eat" booths and there will be games of skill for all who enjoy this type of amusement.

The committee said yesterday that an airplane ride will be installed on the I. C. R. lots. This is the first such ride ever brought to Polo. Along with it will come a merry-go-round and ferris wheel.

The Prairie Ramblers and Stanley Rich, two units that get top billing wherever they go, will be here Wednesday along with the accordion Whiz Kids. For Thursday there will be the WLS Barn Dance, Don and Dick, the comic boxers, and the Piazzer Family, an aerobist group.

Dances will be given in the town hall each night.

Honored at Luncheon
Mrs. Arthur Klein of Dixon entertained at a 1 o'clock luncheon Monday at the Pines Lodge for Miss Edith Scholl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Scholl. Those present were the hostess, the honoree, Mrs. Frank Moses, Mrs. Ralph Salzman, Mrs. Donald Dittmar and Miss Lois Sheffield.

Miss Scholl will leave Sept. 11 for Los Angeles, Calif., where she will teach in an elementary school in a suburb of Los Angeles.

Grange to Meet
Members of the Buffalo Grange will meet at 8 p. m. Friday in the town hall basement. Blackhawk Grange of Mt. Morris will present the traveling gavel and will have charge of the program. The home economics committee will serve a luncheon and they ask each family to bring sandwiches and a dish to pass.

Scene of Wiener Roast

DIXON COLLEGE HOLDS REUNION AT NACHUSA HOTEL—L. W. MILLER NAMED PRESIDENT OF COLLEGE ALUMNI Front row: L. W. Miller, George McGrath, Mrs. Jesse Korf, Mamie Hicks, Lottie Durn, Horace Hiechok and W. J. Worsley. Back row: H. W. Morris, Jesse Korf, Mrs. George McGrath, Warren Shippert, F. J. Finkley, A. J. Harris, and Clem Miller.

Nearly sixty former classmates and graduates of the Dixon College assembled last Saturday at the Nachusa Hotel for their annual reunion. Former associates from New York to California recalled campus experiences at the dinner which was served in the Colonial dining room at the Nachusa. Following the banquet, the group was addressed by Mayor William V. Slothower and Prof. George C. Heritage, who was a member of the Dixon College faculty from 1893 to 1901.

The Dixon Evening Telegraph staff photographer visited the reunion during the early part of the evening and secured these photos in the lobby of the hotel. In the above picture, from the left, front row, can be seen Mrs. Clem Miller, Carrie Belle Swartz, Fannie Gish, Mrs. E. J. Crocell, Mrs. Corbin, Mrs. C. E. Hill, and F. J. Crocell. Back row: Mrs. J. O. Shaulis, J. O. Shaulis, Perry Beatty, Mrs. Albert Johnson, Albert Johnson, Anna Devine, and Mrs. McNichols.

Front row: Miss Ann Eustace, Beryl Applegate, Mr. Applegate, Ada Wood, H. W. Hicks, H. D. Nuncius, and W. M. Thompson. Back row: Grover Gehant, W. C. Chusen, Sophie Carnice, Wm. Nettz, Walter Becker, John Buckley, and W. H. Fleming.

Front row: Mrs. Carl Straw, Mrs. A. G. Yenerich, A. G. Yenerich, D. U. Phenix, Mrs. Phenix, Viola Pottinger, and Addie Gooch. Back row: Dr. Bowton, J. W. Collins, U. S. Collins, R. A. Rodesch, R. L. Russell, Prof. George C. Heritage, and J. B. Heeren.

Monmouth college, he has taken his seminary work at the University of Chicago and has approximately one year of additional study there before receiving his Bachelor of Divinity degree. The Mount Morris church has arranged with him to continue this study. During her college work, Mrs. Munson majored in music, and has had training in voice, piano and organ.

Both have been active in community affairs in their present location, as well as taking an active part in state-wide church activities. Mr. Munson is, at present, area director of young people's work for the northwest district of the state for Christian churches, and he and Mrs. Munson have taught for several years at the Young People's Conferences at Eureka College, which have been attended by numerous young people from the Mount Morris church.

During the next four Sundays, the Rev. E. R. Henriks will preach for the local church.

Bowles Unenthused Over Ration Outlook
Los Angeles, Aug. 25—(AP)—Here's what Chester Bowles, national OPA chief, thinks about commodity conditions:

Butter: "Points probably will be raised, due to the scarcity of this commodity."

Gasoline: "There is no reason to hope for greater quantities of car fuel allowed civilians."

Black market: "With the aid of the secret service and other federal enforcement agencies, we're on top of it."

BY HAL BOYLE

With an American Armored Column in France, Aug. 15—(Delayed)—(AP)—Light house-keeping becomes a real problem in reporting Army activities during such gypsy warfare as our cowboy and Indian march through France.

After riding several hundred miles behind rampaging tanks you can begin to feel the bogie wheel going around in your own brain.

There is nothing more exhilarating than a long advance through enemy country with an armored column, never knowing for sure whether you will be able to sweep another 60 miles or whether the next moment you may have to stand and slug for your life to counter a Nazi ambush.

But it is as wearing as it is exciting and, added to the ordinary occupational hazards of war reporting, are the multiplied problems of transportation and communications. The task of getting their news stories back to American newspapers is causing more gray hairs among correspondents covering Gen. Patton's Third Army than enemy shells.

One difficulty has been that every time our camp moves forward the wireless equipment has been broken down and carted to a new location for reassembly.

Thus, for many hours we have no major news channel outlet and it becomes necessary to fly the stories to London where they can be cabled back to the United States. In recent days, too, drastic field censorship has been imposed twice on the extent of our advances, forcing much hot news to cool off.

Correspondents have been living out of trailers ever since the Third Army began its great blitz. We have had six camps in little more than two weeks, staying at each only two or three days and then hopping forward another 50 miles.

It has been almost a fulltime job for Capt. John B. Mayo of Tulsa, Okla., to reconnoiter ahead to pick out new camp sites and he has had a few exciting moments.

Once he was mistaken for a German by a nervous officer and had to hit the ditch while 15 rounds went whizzing past his ear. He later was rewarded with an apology. Another time he had a chateau picked out for a news work room and found a dozen Germans still living in it.

To get frontline news from this breakneck army you have to get up at 7 or 8 o'clock and attend the morning briefing by Maj. Jack Widmer of Denver, Colo., to get the general picture of the situation.

Then you get out for a three to six hour drive over clogged roads to catch up with the advance armor. After getting the story, you have to return along roads still under occasional sniper fire from guerrilla bands of roving Germans.

You usually arrive too late for the evening meal and have to eat your ration in a jeep en route home. You get there covered with so much caked dust you look like the end man in a minstrel show and there still remains the major problem of the day—writing your story by the dimming flicker of a tired, 10-watt Army light bulb and afterward fighting it through censorship.

You're lucky if you get to bed by 2 a. m.

But every war correspondent in camp feels he is the most fortunate newspaper man in the world to be in on this great surge through France, that is speeding the war to a conclusion. This fast-moving drive is both a newspaperman's dream privilege, and a newspaperman's nightmare.

ON THE NOSE!
Fort Scott, Kas.—An angry bull attacked Cleve Daly. He grabbed it by its horns—and bit it on its nose.

Surprised by this counterattack, the bull backed away. Nose Nibbler Daly scooted for safety.

HAPPY ENDING
Redford, Ind.—Lewis Greene reported his bicycle stolen and the police went out to look for it. They found it abandoned in the front yard at headquarters.

(Central War Time)
New York, Aug. 25—(AP)—After 14 weekly lectures by 28 speakers, the Television Seminar, conducted since May 18 by the Radio Executives Club of New York, has been concluded.

The seminar's final roundup meeting last night was cancelled when a planned demonstration did not materialize because the apparatus was not ready.

The consensus seemed to be that the discussions had resulted in considerable enlightenment on the general television situation. A survey, conducted by Radio Daily, trade publication, among those attending indicated sentiment favoring public reintroduction of radio pictures as soon as practicable after the war.

Disasters expressed the belief that further technical and other advancements should come first.

It has been proposed that a booklet be compiled to provide a public record of the accomplishments of the seminar, which was under the direction of the club's president, Murray Grabhorn of the BLUE.

"After five years," in which he is expected to discuss the war situation, will be the theme of a 15-minute broadcast by Lord Halifax, British ambassador, scheduled for 9:45 p. m. Saturday on CBS. The University of Chicago Roundtable of NBC at 12:30 p. m. Sunday is to add a pickup from
